Competition Law in Conversation: Digital Ecosystems and Competition Law

Join us for our next Competition Law in Conversation event on 16 November 2021 (4pm Vienna), when we discuss how competition law should deal with self-contained digital ecosystems that capture users in unprecedented ways with Amelia Fletcher (University of East Anglia) and Frédéric Jenny (ESSEC Business School), moderated by Viktoria Robertson (WU & University of Graz). Register here!

Competition Law: A Green and Digital Future

You can now watch Viktoria Robertson's Inaugural Lecture, which she held on 18 October 2021, here. In the lecture, she discusses a possible green and digital future of competition law.

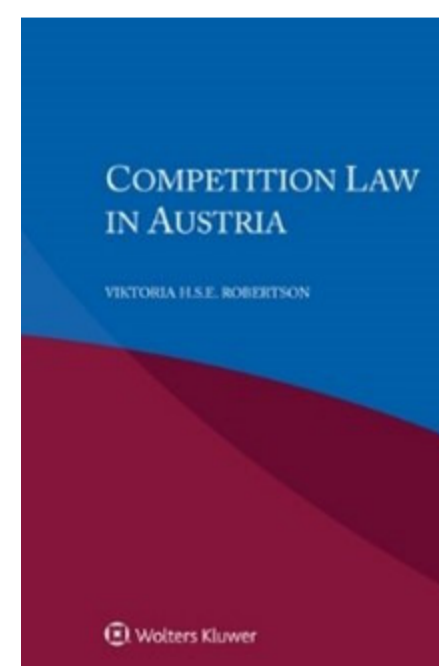

Competition Law Turns Green: Focus on Environmental Economics

On 10 November 2021 (3:30pm Vienna), join us for a virtual seminar on how environmental economics can contribute to greening competition law, with Karsten Neuhoff (German Institute for Economic Research), David Foster (Frontier Economics), Astrid Ladefoged (DG ENV), Philipp Dimakopoulos (DG COMP) and Andreas Themelis (Hellenic Competition Authority), moderated by Harri Kalimo (VUB) and Klaudia Majcher (WU). Register here!

Competition Law in Austria

Viktoria Robertson's monograph on Austrian competition law was just published in Kluwer's series International Encyclopaedia of Laws. This analysis of competition law and its interpretation in Austria covers every aspect of the subject, including the substantive provisions, interaction with EU competition law, and procedural questions. You can get your copy here.

National Enforcement of Competition Law

Viktoria Robertson and Petar Petrov are contributing to the pan-European project 'Judicial Review of Competition Law Enforcement in the EU: Empirical Mapping 2004-2021', with the Austrian part of the project enabled by a grant from the Austrian Federal Competition Authority. For more information on the project, see here.
